Exceptional building architecture

An elegant facade harmoniously built and classified as a Historical Monument as well as its interior central staircase.

A place with History

Le Royal Monceau was a refuge to many historical figures such as General Eisenhower, Marshal Montgomery, Walt Disney or Ho Chi Minh.

A destiny apart...

« We have two ways to tame our heritage. Either we behave as heirs without ambition and we restore identically, or we confront our history, our roots with the present. This confrontation is fertile and is a source of great creation. »

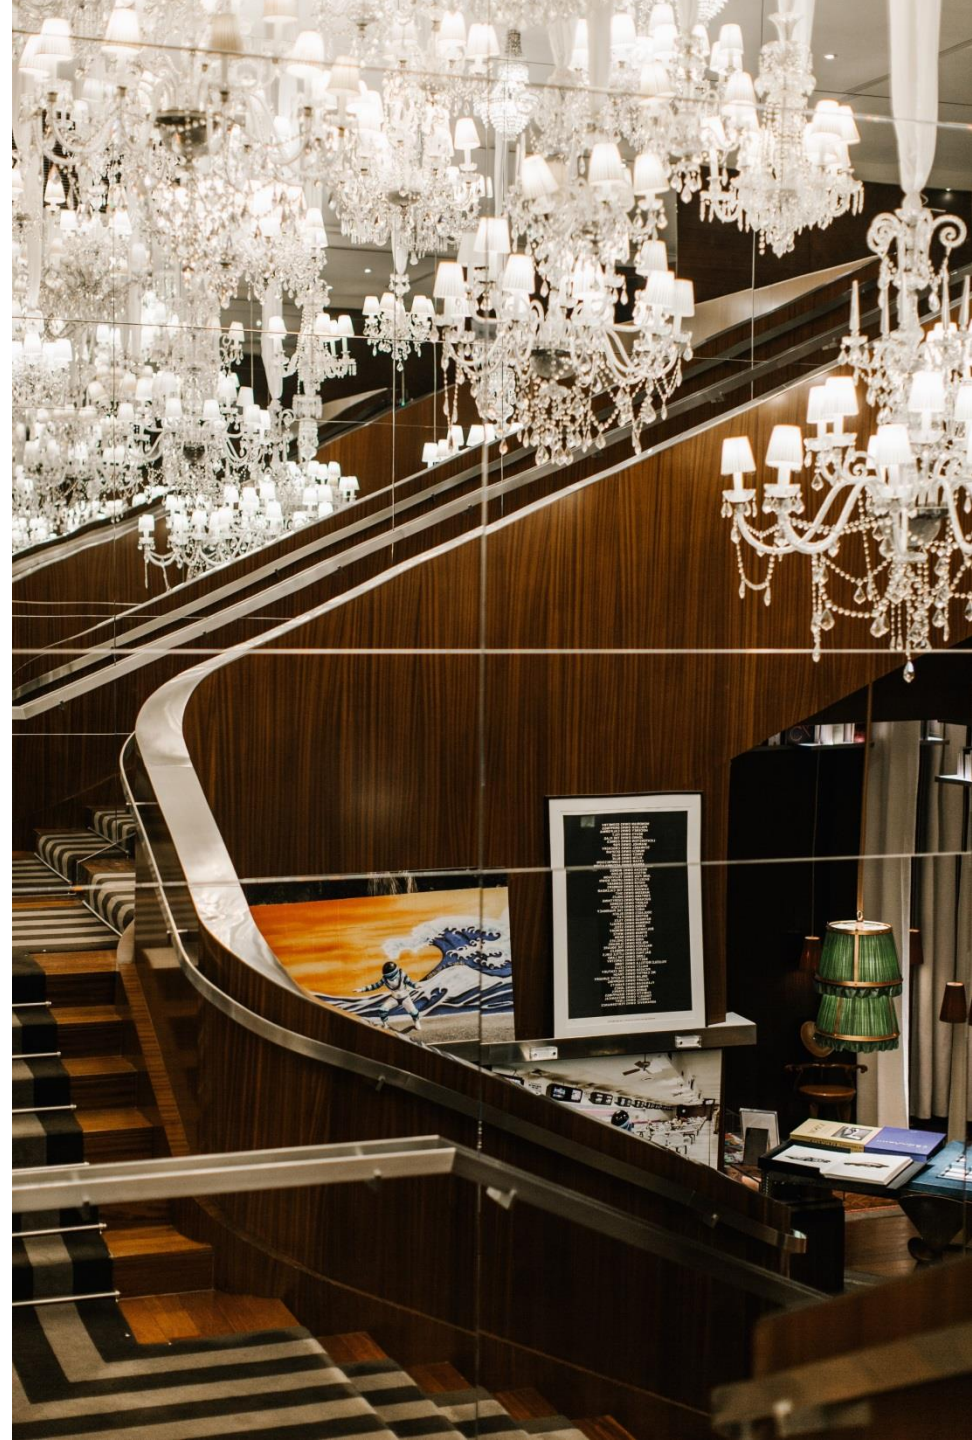

A contemporary design by Philippe Starck to create a surprise with a touch of audacity.

Luxury & poetry

Noble materials across our common areas where poetry, luxury, insolence and exigency interlace.

Stairs made of mahogany, Baccarat crystal chandeliers from 1928

Sleep, dream... and live

The style of our 85 rooms and 61 suites offers a generous mix of a contemporary design and a unique Parisian spirit.

Emotion & creativity

Recreate an environment of freedom and expression...

Erwin Olaf

« Les photos comme le champagne ont besoin de l'obscurité pour trouver la lumière. »

- Erwin Olaf -

La Maison Ruinart fête les 120 ans de sa première collaboration artistique. En 1896, elle réalisait sa première commission en faisant appel au talent du jeune artiste tchèque, Alphonse Mucha, qui deviendra un des piliers de l'Art Nouveau et qui réalisera pour Ruinart une « réclame » qui fera sensation.

Pour célébrer cette occasion, la Maison a commissionné l'artiste et photographe multi-talents Erwin Olaf pour créer la série Light.

Light raconte une histoire inédite de la vie des crayères de la Maison, récemment inscrites au Patrimoine Mondial de l'UNESCO.

Erwin Olaf s'est inspiré des marques trouvées sur les murs de craie, ces traces laissées par l'homme et avant lui, par la nature depuis la préhistoire.

Light est un retour aux sources de la photographie à la lumière.
