A NEW LONDON DESTINATION

AN EPIC STAGE FOR MODERN TASTEMAKERS

The Old War Office was once home to Legends. Today, Raffles London at The OWO is an epic stage for modern tastemakers. Located in the heart of Whitehall, The OWO overlooks some of London's most majestic landmarks. This commanding building has been home to many well-known historical figures such as Sir Winston Churchill, Lord Haldane, Earl Kitchener and John Profumo, and was the inspiration behind Ian Fleming's elusive James Bond. For the very first time, this former stage to many world-shaping events opens its doors to the curious and to the inspired and is a most powerful address to discover the truly remarkable city of London from an entirely new perspective.

THE GLORIOUS HERITAGE SUITES

The five Heritage Suites are situated in the building's most storied rooms, formerly offices of influential political and military leaders that have been passionately and meticulously restored to preserve their many glorious heritage features. With spectacular views and incredible histories, the Heritage Suites are absolutely beyond compare.

The other sought-after suites are in the majestic turrets overlooking Whitehall, each named after famous women, notable female spies and Churchill's beloved wife, Clementine. These eight Corner Suites offer guests unparalleled views over Whitehall, Horse Guards and the stunning 57-acres of St. James's Park.

Mauro's Table

A NEW EPICENTRE OF THE CAPITAL'S CULINARY SCENE

The OWO and Raffles London take drinking and dining to new heights curating a diverse range of nine restaurants and three bars with three exclusive dining venues by acclaimed chef Mauro Colagreco including Mauro's Table, a private dining room with views over Whitehall and guest access to an exceptional show kitchen. Raffles London will also be home to The Guards Bar, a sumptuous wood-panelled cocktail & champagne bar overlooking Horse Guards, and The Drawing Room, where London's rich history and wide-ranging cuisine will be honoured and inspired by tradition. For those seeking the more clandestine and mysterious, The Spy Bar is the hotel's unique speakeasy bar, hidden in the dark and shadowy depths of The Old War Office. With many restaurants set within the building's most historical rooms, these eclectic dining experiences welcome visitors and locals to come together and enjoy a wonderful selection of sublime food and drink in the most staggering of settings.
