Since acquiring four fincas and merging them to create the largest private estate in Spain in 1962, Sotogrande has been developing this spectacular stretch of the Costa del Sol into an exclusive resort. # SO/ IS A COVETED COLLECTION OF HOTELS

Rooted in the world of fashion and design

SO/ Sotogrande offers a contemporary touch by letting its rebellious spirit play with local tradition. A mix between the atmosphere of the destination and the imagined soul of the hotel creates a unique experience with style. With its classic whitewashed walls, vibrant social energy and local charisma, the 'Cortijo' is the ultimate symbol of Andalusia's friendly and playful personality. 'Cortijo' is the Spanish word for farmhouse – serving as rural housing for workers. Later on, the 'Cortijo' became popular amongst writers, directors and artist, not only as a source of inspiration but also a place to host parties for the bohemian set.

Arrival Pavilion

The entrance door to our oasis of tranquility. The Arrival Pavillion introduces the Andalusian lifestyle, offering an immediate sense of the resort. The Golondrinas (a commissioned art depicting swallows) arrive at the same time, representing joy and happiness.

/MEET THE ARTISTS

JOSÉ F. RIOS/

Beautiful hyperrealist style mural art inspired by the Mediterranean landscape, visually extending our beautiful Andalusian gardens.

CUMELLA/

Ceramics lattice, emulating the traditional Andalusian courtyard arches. Created by award-winning artisan ceramist Antoni Cumella, the lattice is strikingly contemporary in design with a remarkably timeless quality.

/MEET THE ARTISTS

DOLORES CORTÉS/

Lively and fashionable fabrics and art pieces, creating colourful and vibrant atmospheres. Carrying on her family's swimwear business, Dolores Cortés has guided the brand into new fashion endeavors.

UNZUETA Y LA NAVÀ/

Traditional ceramic elements with a contemporary twist. The classic Andalusian 'botijo' - clay water jugs - are revisited as terracota lamps in the Cortijo Restaurant as well as the guest rooms and suites.
